Sunday School Snippets

Parents of toddlers want to teach their children to trust them. Building this trust involves providing for their needs and protecting them. Some parents build trust by encouraging their child to leap into their arms when the jump appears to be a very long, dangerous leap to the child. When the child makes the jump and the parent catches him, both the parent and the child are exuberant. God often calls upon His children to make what appears to be enormous leaps to demonstrate to them that they can always trust in Him as they obey Him.

As you read Joshua 6:12-25 and the Session 4 commentary in the Personal Study Guide, pay attention to how Israel's victory was tied to their faith and obedience.
